MEDIA RELEASE

Lockheed Martin Names Greg Gardner Vice President, Investor Relations – 25/08/2016

Jerry Kircher to Retire at End of 2016

BETHESDA, Md., Aug. 25, 2016 -- Lockheed Martin [NYSE: LMT] has appointed Greg Gardner to the role of vice president, Investor Relations, effective December 5, 2016. Jerry Kircher, who has worked for Lockheed Martin for 36 years, will retire at the end of the year.

Gardner has been with Lockheed Martin for more than 30 years, taking roles of increasing responsibility in pricing, program finance, financial planning and investor relations. He has served as director, Investor Relations since 2011, participating in all aspects of the investor relations process, including interacting daily with financial analysts and institutional investors and communicating the strategic direction and performance of the corporation.

Greg holds a bachelor's degree of business administration in accounting from James Madison University and a master's degree in business administration from Penn State University. He will spend the coming months meeting with the investment community and transitioning to prepare for Kircher's retirement.

"Jerry has made a significant impact on the Corporation during his tenure and has assisted greatly in its financial success," said Bruce Tanner, Lockheed Martin's executive vice president and chief financial officer. "His sound judgment and counsel were influential to many key decisions that contributed to Lockheed Martin's impressive performance. I'm confident Greg's contributions will allow us to continue to create shareholder value in the same manner."

About Lockheed Martin

Headquartered in Bethesda, Maryland, Lockheed Martin is a global security and aerospace company that employs approximately 98,000 people worldwide and is principally engaged in the research, design, development, manufacture, integration and sustainment of advanced technology systems, products and services.

Anadarko Petroleum Corporation - Anadarko Announces Leadership Changes – 23/8/2016

Anadarko Petroleum Corporation (NYSE: APC) today announced that Darrell Hollek, formerly Executive Vice President, U.S. Onshore Exploration and Production, has been named Executive Vice President, Operations with responsibility for the company's U.S. onshore exploration, production and midstream activities, along with its Gulf of Mexico and international operations. The company also announced Ernie Leyendecker, formerly Sr. Vice President, International Exploration, has been named Executive Vice President, International and Deepwater Exploration.

Bob Daniels, formerly Executive Vice President, International and Deepwater Exploration, will continue as an Executive Vice President and member of the company's Executive Committee until his retirement later this year. Jim Kleckner, formerly Executive Vice President, International and Deepwater Operations also is retiring.

"We are fortunate to have the quality and depth of leadership to make these appointments and to effect executive management succession with such talented individuals," Anadarko Chairman, President and CEO Al Walker said. "Darrell and Ernie have significant experience and strong leadership track records of success as they assume these expanded responsibilities. They have been instrumental in advancing Anadarko's exploration, production and development worldwide, and we are confident they will continue to create value for our stakeholders. I would also like to express my sincere appreciation to Bob for his enduring contributions as a pioneer who helped solidify Anadarko's reputation as an industry-leading exploration company, and also to Jim for his leadership and numerous successes over his distinguished career. They each made Anadarko a better company."

Hollek has been with the company since 1980, when he joined as a field engineer. Since that time he has held positions of increasing responsibilities overseeing global deepwater drilling, international, Gulf of Mexico and U.S. onshore exploration and production, as well as environmental, health, safety and regulatory. Hollek will also remain a director of Western Gas Holdings, LLC, a subsidiary of Anadarko, and Western Gas Equity Holdings, LLC, the general partner of Western Gas Equity Partners, LP (NYSE: WGP), a publicly traded midstream limited partnership.

Leyendecker has more than 30 years of experience and joined the company in 2002. He has held positions of increasing responsibility including General Manager for Worldwide Exploration Engineering, Planning and International Negotiations, Vice President of Corporate Planning and Sr. Vice President, Gulf of Mexico Exploration.

Enphase Energy - Enphase Energy Names Mike Lewis as Vice President and General Manager of U.S. and Canada Sales – 22/8/2016

Enphase Energy, Inc. (NASDAQ: ENPH), a global energy technology company, has named technology industry veteran Mike Lewis as its new vice president of and general manager of U.S. and Canada sales.

Lewis will lead Enphase's U.S. and Canadian sales and field marketing organizations, where he will oversee the development of new business opportunities and the customization of solutions to best meet customer needs.

"Mike is an experienced sales leader with a solid understanding of distribution and top tier accounts, and he has a great track record of developing strong customer and account relationships," said Paul Nahi, president and CEO of Enphase Energy. "He will help strengthen our existing U.S. customer relationships and develop new strategic accounts as we continue to gain market share and execute on the global rollout of the Enphase Home Energy Solution."

Lewis has more than 20 years of management and executive experience in high-technology sales and business development. Prior to joining Enphase, Lewis spent most of his career at Seagate Technology, advancing with increasing levels of responsibility through the sales organization to become senior director of global sales in 2013. He also held management positions at Imation and Datacore prior to Seagate. Lewis has a Bachelor of Science in management from Park University and a Master of Business Administration degree from Regis University.

"Enphase has cracked the code on a scalable, distributed, cloud-based architecture, making it the only company that can offer a truly optimized and integrated clean energy system. Microinverter technology is the future, because it's not limited by the shortcomings of string inverters and their single point of failure," said Lewis. "With a strong, growing installed base and a full pipeline of innovative products across the energy solution and management space, I am thrilled to be at Enphase as the company realizes the full potential of energy management systems."

Lewis joins Enphase at a time of strong growth, with the second quarter of 2016 showing revenue up 24 percent quarter-over-quarter and megawatt shipments up 30 percent. The results came about through executing the strategy that was laid out last year: regaining market share by offering competitive pricing, while driving product cost reductions. Enphase will introduce its sixth-generation microinverter system along with its upcoming AC module products at the Solar Power International 2016 conference in Las Vegas.

Marathon Oil Corporation - Marathon Oil Announces Leadership Changes – 22/8/2016

Marathon Oil Corporation (NYSE: MRO) announced today that T. Mitch Little has been promoted to executive vice president, Operations, and will oversee the Resource Play and Conventional businesses.

Little, currently vice president, Conventional, has demonstrated strong leadership capabilities across a variety of large, complex businesses and has successfully taken on multi-faceted initiatives across the enterprise. Little previously served as managing director of Marathon Oil Norge AS and general manager, Worldwide Drilling and Completions. Having joined the Company in 1986, he also brings deep E&P knowledge via a number of engineering, subsurface and management positions across the Company's U.S. operations in Oklahoma, Wyoming, Louisiana and Alaska, as well as internationally in Equatorial Guinea, Gabon and Libya.

"Mitch brings proven leadership skills and significant technical experience to the new role of EVP of Operations at Marathon Oil, and has been integral to our ongoing transformation into a resource play focused E&P," said Lee Tillman, Marathon Oil president and CEO.

In conjunction with this change, Cathy Krajicek, currently vice president of Technology and Innovation, has accepted the role of vice president, Conventional. Bruce McCullough, currently vice president and chief information officer, has accepted the role of vice president, Technology and Innovation, and retains his role as chief information officer. Lance Robertson, vice president, Resource Plays, has elected to leave the Company to pursue other opportunities.

Unrelated to the organizational changes noted above, J.R. Sult, executive vice president and CFO, has elected to leave the Company for personal reasons following an appropriate transition period. Sult's departure is not related to any disagreement with the Company regarding financial disclosures, accounting or business matters.

Pat Wagner has been appointed interim chief financial officer while the Company conducts a search for a new CFO. Wagner, vice president of Corporate Development and Strategy, joined Marathon Oil in 2014. He has extensive financial and operational experience, including senior roles at QR Energy LP, Scotia Waterous, and Devon Energy Corp.

"Pat brings a solid balance of financial and operating skills to his role as interim CFO and will continue to support our ongoing focus on financial discipline during this transition," Tillman said.

"I want to sincerely thank J.R. and Lance for their substantial contributions to the Company over the years and wish them both well in their future endeavors."

All leadership changes are effective immediately.

MMJ Phytotech Ltd (ASX: MMJ) - Appointment of Chief Operating Officer – 15/8/2016

MMJ PhytoTech Limited (ASX: MMJ) (“MMJ” or “the Company”) is pleased to advise that Catherine Harvey has been appointed as Chief Operations Officer, effective 1 September 2016.

In the role of Chief Operations Officer, Catherine will play a significant role in overseeing the daily operations of MMJ’s key business divisions, with a focus on the execution of key international growth objectives. Catherine will be based in Sydney and will work closely with MMJ’s senior management team to design and deliver MMJ’s commercial and regulatory strategy, with a focus on the Australian market, but also overseeing MMJ’s international operations.

Catherine is a highly experienced pharmaceutical industry executive, with an extensive corporate background, having worked for multiple pharmaceutical organisations both domestically and overseas. Most recently, Catherine held executive leadership positions including Director of Business Development and Corporate Affairs at Mundipharma Pty Limited and Business Development Manager at Norwegian Pharmaceutical Company, Nycomed.

Throughout her career to date, Catherine has established a strong track record in the implementation of successful commercialisation strategies and strategic planning at senior management level.

MMJ’s Managing Director, Andreas Gedeon, commented on the appointment, “We are very pleased to be welcoming someone of Catherine’s calibre to the management team, during this exciting period in our evolution as a leading vertically integrated medical cannabis business.

Catherine’s extensive pharmaceutical industry experience, in particular her ability to drive commercial strategies and sales growth, will be a tremendous addition to the team and will provide MMJ with the requisite bench strength to build upon our robust foundations as we look to capitalise on a number of near-term growth opportunities.”

As part of Catherine’s remuneration package, the Company has agreed to grant her 3,000,000 unlisted options with an expiry date of 4 years from the date of issue and an exercise price equal to the 5 day VWAP of the underlying MMJ shares traded on the ASX immediately prior to the commencement of her employment on 1 September 2016. The options will vest in equal thirds every 12 months, subject to Catherine’s ongoing employment with the Company.

Kames Capital strengthens equities team – 12/08/2016

We have strengthened our Edinburgh-based equities team with two new appointments.

Robin Black (pictured) has joined as an investment manager in our global equities team, reporting to Stephen Adams, Head of Equities.

Robin, who has 21 years' investment experience, will support the management of our global equity portfolios, with a particular focus on Japan. He joins us from the investment bank Macquarie, where he was a managing director in the Pan Asian Equity team in Hong Kong and worked in their global equity sales team in London.

Before that, Robin worked for Deutsche Bank in New York as a managing director and head of Asian and Japanese sales into North America. He has also held roles at Citigroup and Merrill Lynch as a director in Japanese equity sales, and Martin Currie, where he was an investment manager.

Robin studied History and Economic History at the University of Aberdeen before gaining an MSc in Project Analysis, Finance and Investment from the University of York. He also has an MSc in Investment Analysis from the University of Stirling.

Robin's appointment deepens the resource within our global equities team and provides additional specialist expertise in Japanese equities.

We also welcome Julius Huttunen to our Corporate Governance and Ethical Research team, where he will support the management of the Kames Global Sustainable Equity Fund by analysing companies from a sustainability perspective.

Julius, who has three years' investment experience, joins us from Alliance Trust Investments, where he was a member of the team covering Japanese equities for sustainable global funds. Before that Julius studied International Business at Ritsumeikan Asia Pacific University and gained an MSc in Economics from the University of St Andrews.

These new appointments bring Kames Capital's equities team to 28 investment professionals, with an average experience of 18 years, of which an average of 10 years has been spent with the firm.

DE Beers Consolidated Mines - De Beers Announces Senior Management Appointments At Global Sightholder Sales – 12/8/2016

The De Beers Group of Companies today announced new appointments to the positions of Senior Vice President of Sightholder Sales and Senior Vice President of Product Planning at its Global Sightholder Sales business.

Nigel Simson will move from his current role as Senior Vice President of Sightholder Sales to head up the new Product Planning function that will establish closer integration between Sales, Product Planning and Product Delivery, enabling the delivery of more tailored product and service offerings for rough diamond customers.

Bernard Bradley (pictured above) will take over from Nigel as Senior Vice President of Sightholder Sales, bringing with him an outstanding track record of strengthening customer experiences and relationships from a number of senior international sales roles.

Nigel and Bernard, who will both be based in Gaborone, Botswana, will work closely with Paul Rowley and the senior management team at Global Sightholder Sales to continue improving the business's ability to anticipate and respond to customer needs as it progress on our path to becoming even more customer-centric.

Paul Rowley, Executive Vice President of Global Sightholder Sales, said: "I am proud of how our Sales team has performed ever since the business relocated to Botswana and we have achieved great success. However, the world continues to change rapidly and we need to adopt learnings from both inside and outside the sector. I am therefore delighted to welcome Bernard, whose external experience will perfectly complement our outstanding internal expertise and insight.

“I’m equally delighted that Nigel will lead our new Product Planning function. With his unrivalled breadth of knowledge across customers, products and processes, he is ideally placed to work alongside Bernard and the rest of the team to continue improving our offering to customers.”

Nigel Simson said: “As we have continued to analyse how best to address our customers’ needs, it’s become clearer that we needed to integrate different parts of the organisation more closely in order to anticipate and meet customer requirements even more effectively. It’s a real privilege to have the chance to lead the newly created function responsible for this work and I believe we can add real value to customers’ businesses through more tailored offerings.”

Bernard Bradley said: “The opportunity to join De Beers was one I simply couldn’t turn down. The diamond industry has some amazing opportunities on the horizon and I’m very excited to have the chance to work with the world’s leading diamond experts and most successful diamond companies. I’m really looking forward to working with Paul, Nigel, the rest of the team and the entire customer community.”

Bernard will join the organisation early in September 2016.

National Australia Bank Limited (ASX: NAB) - NAB asset servicing appoints new general manager, sales & relationships – 11/8/2016

NAB Asset Servicing (NAS) today announced the appointment of Ken Shaw to the role of General Manager, Sales & Relationships.

Ken joins NAB from Novarca, where for the last two years he has been consulting to superannuation funds and government entities.

Prior to this, he was with BNP Paribas Securities Services for 12 years holding senior management positions in sales, marketing, relationship management and clients services while leading teams across Sydney, Melbourne and New Zealand.

He has also spent time in the UK with BNP Paribas where he held the positions of Head of Relationship Management and Client Services and Director of Change Management, Risk and Compliance.

John Comito, Executive General Manager of Asset Servicing, said Ken will bring a significant depth of expertise in building trusted relationships with clients.

“Ken’s deep custody expertise, knowledge and industry networks will be highly valued as we continue to respond to the changing needs of our customers and assist them to meet their strategic objectives.

“He will also work closely with the bank’s corporate and institutional specialists to ensure that we bring all of NAB’s capabilities to support this important customer segment.

“NAB Asset Servicing’s vision is to become Australia’s most respected custodian and Ken’s experience will contribute to achieving that goal.”

Ken will commence with NAB on 19 September.

About NAB Asset Servicing

Asset Servicing, part of NAB’s Corporate & Institutional Banking division, is the largest custodian in the Australian market. It provides custody, master custody, investment administration and other related services to a range of locally and internationally domiciled clients. These include government agencies, investment managers, superannuation funds, insurance companies and banks. NAB has provided domestic custody services since 1950 and global custody and investment administration services since 1975.

Rostec - Rostec Undergoes Personnel Changes - 10/8/2016

Sergey Kulikov is handing over the administrative functions of executive director to Oleg Yevtushenko, who previously served as Chief of Staff to the CEO. Kulikov will focus on developing the electronics cluster as the company’s Industrial Director.

Rostec’s management team has decided to align the organization’s structure behind the company’s new development strategy. This means deploying industrial directors, fully focused on driving hard individual clusters by growing value of underlying assets and launching new products in domestic and foreign markets. To deliver higher-granularity focus, the Management entrusted individual fields to the industrial directors, who earlier occupied two or more positions and supervised both support and business structures.

Sergey Kulikov, who previously held the positions of executive director and industrial director for electronic clusters simultaneously, will transfer his administrative functions. Throughout 1H2016, the teams worked hard to prepare for these changes. Rostec chose a management team member to be the next executive director, one who prepared for the new role under Kulikov’s guidance.

Oleg Yevtushenko will assume the role of Executive Director. He previously worked as a Chief of Staff to the CEO, a position that will change following current organizational changes.

Oleg Yevtushenko graduated from the Military University and Russian Academy of Civil Service under the President of the Russian Federation. Following his military service, he held management positions in Rosoboronexport and the Ministry of Industry and Trade. From 2013 until now, he has worked as the Chief of Staff to the CEO.

The Managing Unit will take on the functions of the Chief of Staff and support functions, including strategy, organizational development, communications and IT.

“Within the development strategy, Rostec’s electronic cluster will lead the effort to grow market share in the civilian markets up to 50% by 2025: this cluster will lead the launch of “smart” products across the fast-growing high-tech markets. The cluster leadership will require a close focus on management efforts, seeking to streamline development processes across underlying holdings and companies. These changes will require Sergey Kulikov to transfer certain administrative functions, while remaining a team member and one of the corporation's most active leaders", said Sergey Chemezov, CEO of Rostec Corporation.

Supervision of the RT Business Development Company, previously entrusted to Sergey Kulikov, will transfer to Dmitry Lelikov, Deputy CEO for Investment Activities for Rostec, who currently controls the corporation's investment projects.

During his term as Executive Director, Sergey Kulikov managed to deliver a number of wide-ranging transformations. In particular, he guided the organizational reforms in Rostec, making it possible to reduce the number of management levels between the Operations Director and CEO. He also worked to roll out a program to increase operational efficiency, including efforts to streamline processes and functions (with the number of staff in the central department already down by 30%) and formulate KPIs and staff incentives. In doing so, no cuts were made to production employees.

Sergey Kulikov succeeded at developing Rostec's new strategy, in sync with the changing business environment. As Rostec's Industrial Director, he helped increase consolidated revenues of the electronics cluster up to 212.1 billion rubles in 2015, with the cluster's net profit standing at 21.3 billion rubles at the end of the year.

In addition, as Executive Director, Kulikov supervised the efforts to create and promote a new brand for Rostec, whose market cap stood at 32.2 billion rubles last year. Rostec's external communications were fully restructured in line with worldwide best practices, enabling a significant improvement in brand awareness and the creation of a positive image that remains in line with the strategic priorities of Rostec and the state.

In 2014, Kulikov initiated the creation of the RT Business Development Investment Company, incorporated within Rostec's structures. In two years under Kulikov's leadership, the company successfully completed deals to sell a package of Yota Devices, purchase large federal IT solutions developer BARS Group, and sell Rostec's shares in Erdenet and Mongolrostsvetmet, which were jointly-owned with Mongolia.

Eli Lilly & Company - Lilly Announces Joshua Smiley, Anat Ashkenazi Appointed To New Roles, Thomas Grein Retires – 10/8/2016

Eli Lilly and Company (NYSE: LLY) today announced Joshua Smiley will be appointed to senior vice president, Finance, and treasurer effective October 1. Smiley will replace Thomas Grein, who will retire in September after a 41-year career at Lilly.

Smiley currently serves as senior vice president, Finance, and controller and chief financial officer for Lilly Research Laboratories (LRL). He will report to Derica Rice, executive vice president, Global Services, and chief financial officer.

Succeeding Smiley will be Anat Ashkenazi, vice president, Finance, and chief financial officer for Lilly Manufacturing, Global Quality and Lilly Diabetes.

Grein has been "a steadfast pillar of leadership in our financial organization," said Rice, explaining that he helped navigate the company in periods of both financial prosperity and uncertainty, including a recent challenging period of patent expirations to a new era of growth.

"With Tom's guidance, we maintained a strong balance sheet and cash flow that enabled us to make acquisitions and sustain our dividend commitment to Lilly shareholders, even when times were tough," Rice said.

Having worked with Grein and others to craft and execute aspects of Lilly's financial strategy, Smiley is extremely well prepared for his new role, Rice said. "Josh's knowledge and skill helped to place Lilly in a position of strength," he said. "Josh is a strong analytical and strategic thinker who excels at distilling complex business matters into clear thoughts and actions."

Smiley has been with Lilly 21 years, serving in a variety of financial, marketing and Six Sigma roles. He has been in his current role since 2011 and before that was vice president, Finance, and chief financial officer for LRL and Lilly Oncology. Smiley is also a member of the board of trustees at Butler University where he serves as treasurer, as well as a member of the board and executive committee for the Indiana Chamber of Commerce.

Ashkenazi joined Lilly 15 years ago. Her career has focused on finance, corporate strategy, business development and Six Sigma. Before assuming her current role she was senior director, Finance, and chief financial officer for Lilly Oncology.

Rice praised Ashkenazi for her strategic thinking, "Anat has a very effective ability to apply strategy into practical solutions. Her exposure to many parts of our organization – including R&D, manufacturing and commercial – combined with her learning agility, energy and commitment, position Anat well for her new role," he said.

BHP Billiton Ltd (ASE: BHP) - Appointment of Non-executive Director – 10/8/2016

10 August 2016, 10:00 AM

BHP Billiton Chairman, Jac Nasser, today announced the appointment of Ken MacKenzie to the BHP Billiton Board as an independent Non-executive Director, effective as of 22 September 2016.

From 2005 until 2015, Mr MacKenzie served as the Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer of Amcor Limited, a global packaging company with operations in over 40 countries.

Mr MacKenzie is currently a Senior Adviser with McKinsey & Company and serves on the Advisory Boards of American Securities Capital Partners and Adamantem Capital.

Mr Nasser said Mr MacKenzie's appointment reflected the Board's commitment to a structured and rigorous approach to Board succession and planning, having regard to the skills, experience and attributes required to effectively govern the business.

"Ken will be a great addition to the Board of BHP Billiton. He will bring extensive global and executive experience, and a deeply strategic approach. He has a proven track record, having led a successful company in a challenging sector for a decade," he said.

Newport News Shipbuilding Appoints Jennifer Dunn to Vice President, Communications – 09/08/2016

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 09, 2016 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Huntington Ingalls Industries (NYSE:HII) announced today that its Newport News Shipbuilding division has promoted Jennifer Dunn to vice president, communications, effective immediately. She will report directly to HII Executive Vice President and Newport News Shipbuilding President Matt Mulherin and align all external communications with Jerri Dickeski, HII's executive vice president, communications.

Jennifer Dunn has been promoted to vice president, communications, at Newport News Shipbuilding.

"This promotion recognizes the value Jennifer brings to Newport News and is a reflection of her leadership in all communication efforts, as well as her proactive approach to embrace new challenges and responsibilities," Mulherin said. "She also provides important communications counsel to me and to all the members of my senior team and is an important contributor to our ability to accomplish our strategic objectives for our customers, employees and community."

Previously serving as director, communications, for Newport News, in this new role Dunn will continue leading the development and execution of the shipyard's communications strategy to include special events, employee communications, executive communications and thought leadership, local and community public relations and advertising, employee recognition programs, and shipyard crisis communications. Dunn also oversees a team of creative professionals who provide graphic design, photography and videography services across the enterprise.

A third-generation shipbuilder with a bachelor's degree in communications from Christopher Newport University, Dunn joined Newport News in 1997 as an operations coordinator in the submarine program. In 2000 she joined what was then the Newport News' corporate communications team and has held positions of increasing responsibility, including director of communications for Savannah River Nuclear Solutions. Dunn was named director of communications for Newport News Shipbuilding in 2008. She also supported the spin-off and formulation of Huntington Ingalls Industries in 2011.

Ingalls Shipbuilding Announces Jim McIngvale as Director of Communications and Public Affairs – 08/08/2016

PASCAGOULA, Miss., Aug. 08, 2016 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Huntington Ingalls Industries (NYSE:HII) announced today that Jim McIngvale has been named director of communications and public affairs at the company's Ingalls Shipbuilding division. Ingalls has combined its communications department and its government and community affairs department into a single organization called communications and public affairs.

Jim McIngvale has been named director of communications and public affairs at Ingalls Shipbuilding.

"Jim has established a strong reputation of professionalism and efficiency here at Ingalls through his various roles in communications and government/community relations," said Brian Cuccias, president of Ingalls Shipbuilding. "For the past 39 years he has proven to be a valuable asset to the Ingalls team. His knowledge of the field and experience here will make this a seamless integration of the team."

The new department will be responsible for Ingalls' brand and image, both inside the shipyard and in the community. It will manage all internal communications programs, special events and audiovisual services and will coordinate external communications and media initiatives with HII corporate communications. The organization will lead and support Ingalls' relationships with state, local and regional governments and community-based organizations. It will also continue its support of HII corporate government affairs.

McIngvale has been an Ingalls employee since 1977 and has held positions of increasing responsibility, including photographer, senior communications editor, director of public relations and advertising, director of communications and special events, and, for the past several years, director of government and community affairs. He received his bachelor's degree in political science and journalism from the University of Mississippi in 1976.

McIngvale serves as vice president of the board of directors of the Mississippi World Trade Center. He also serves on the board of governors of the Mississippi Economic Council, and he represents Jackson County on the board of trustees of Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College. In October, he will be named chairman of the board of the Mississippi Manufacturers Association.

In 2012, McIngvale was appointed by Gov. Phil Bryant as a commissioner of Go Coast 2020, charged with defining how key priorities and leveraged resources can help overcome challenges faced by the Coast in the aftermath of the BP Deepwater Horizon oil spill. He is co-chair of Go Coast's Workforce GoTeam.

He is a past chairman of both the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce and the Jackson County Economic Development Foundation and is currently vice chair of the Mississippi Military Communities Council.

Corus - Corus Appoints Head of Development for Nelvana - 4/8/2016

Corus Entertainment announced today the appointment of Athena Georgaklis to the role of Head of Development for Nelvana. Georgaklis, a highly respected animation executive, will lead the acquisition of rights and the development of all original content for Nelvana, working with the studio's producers, creators, and talent around the world.

Georgaklis assumes her role effective immediately, reporting in to Scott Dyer, President of Nelvana, and working closely with the recently appointed Pam Westman, Head of Nelvana Enterprises. Her development work will fuel Nelvana's animation studio, drive its Enterprise division through distribution and licensing activity, and continue to provide premium content for Corus' suite of leading kids channels.

"We are delighted to welcome Athena to this role," said Scott Dyer, President, Nelvana "Athena joins our team with an exceptional international reputation built on her keen eye for animation and her breadth of knowledge and experience in the industry."

Georgaklis has worked in Canadian broadcast and production for more than 19 years. In her most recent role, Georgaklis oversaw all original productions for Corus Entertainment's TELETOON network, supervising the development and production of Canadian content in both English and French. During her time with TELETOON, she led the production and development of hit shows like Johnny Test, Knuckleheads (English and French), FuggetAbout It (English and French), Atomic Puppet, Rocket Monkeys, and the Total Drama Island franchise.

"I'm thrilled to be joining Nelvana at this time of growth for the studio," said Athena Georgaklis, Head of Development, Nelvana. "I've admired this studio's work for decades and look forward to developing premium kids content that we can distribute around the world."

Georgaklis will remain based out of Corus' Montréal office, with a continued presence at the company's Corus Quay Headquarters in Toronto.

AMP Bank Limited (ASX: AMP) - New Chairman appointed to AMP Capital board – 4/8/2016

Not for release or distribution in the US

Vanessa Wallace has been appointed Chairman of the AMP Capital Holdings Limited Board, replacing the current long-standing Chairman, Brian Clark, who has announced his retirement effective 16 August 2016.

Mr Clark has been a director of AMP Capital Holdings since February 2008 and Chairman since March 2009.

Ms Wallace is a non-executive Director of AMP Limited and Wesfarmers and has consulted to the financial services sector across the Asia Pacific for more than 30 years. Ms Wallace formerly held senior management positions at Booz & Company where she led the financial services practice in Global Markets and was the Executive Chairman of Booz & Company (Japan) Inc.

Mr Clark said he was delighted Vanessa Wallace has been appointed as Chairman of the AMP Capital board following a well-considered and disciplined transition.

Mr Clark said: "After joining the AMP Capital Holdings board as a non-executive director in May 2016, Vanessa has made an impressive contribution, drawing on her extensive financial services experience as well as her previous engagement in advising AMP Capital at a leadership level a few years ago. She has developed a deep knowledge of the business and I have enjoyed working closely with her during the last few months as part of the board's succession planning program."

AMP Capital CEO Adam Tindall thanked Mr Clark for his leadership of the board during this period.

“Brian has been an outstanding chairman and I would like to thank him for his leadership, wise counsel and commitment to the board and our business. I would also like to personally thank Brian for his invaluable support and guidance to me in transitioning into the role of CEO,” Mr Tindall said.

Vanessa Wallace biography

Vanessa Wallace holds a Bachelor of Commerce degree from the University of New South Wales and a Master of Business Administration from IMD Switzerland.

Prior to its merger with PwC in 2014, Vanessa led Booz & Company's financial services practice in Global Markets, was Executive Chairman of Booz & Company (Japan) Inc. and led the strategy practice.

Previously she held multiple governance roles at the highest level within Booz's global partnership and was actively involved in the firm's customer, channels and markets activities which focused on areas such as customer experience, offer design and channels to market across a number of industries. Vanessa had hands on experience in mergers and acquisitions and post-merger integration. She was a director of Booz & Company entities in Australia, New Zealand, Thailand and Indonesia until 2013.

Following the PwC merger, Booz & Company changed its name to Strategy& and Vanessa continued as Executive Chairwoman of Strategy& (Japan) until she retired in June 2015. Vanessa is also on the Chairman's Council of the Australian Chamber Orchestra Pty Ltd and is a member of the AICD.

CHS Inc. Canada - Larry Fuller to retire – 30/7/2016

Every organization is challenged to continually focus on how to evolve and stay relevant. It's important, however, to step back and recognize individuals who have helped shape how the cooperative system looks today.

Larry Fuller, National Account Director - Selection Services for CHS Aligned Solutions, has announced he will retire in January 2017. Through a career that spanned more than 45 years, Fuller has maintained a steadfast commitment to cooperatives and the value they bring to their farmer-owners.

Raised on his grandfather's 1,200-acre homestead near Kintyre, N.D., Fuller started his career with the agronomy department at the local co-op in Napoleon. He soon became the agronomy department manager and held that position until he joined the then Cenex as an agronomy representative in 1976. He moved through progressively responsible management positions in agronomy, energy, member services and now with Aligned Solutions as head of Selection Services. He has stayed with the cooperative system through significant organizational changes and growth.

"In his current role, Larry put his deep knowledge of agribusiness to work helping local cooperatives find, recruit and transition talent for key leadership positions," says Mark Biedenfeld, vice president, CHS Aligned Solutions. "I'm sure many of us can point to successful co-ops across the U.S. and recognize the huge impact Larry played on the careers of the people running them."

Fuller also served on many agricultural and cooperative association boards, including the North Dakota Agricultural Association, as well as the Mountain Region Managers and North Dakota Cooperative Managers associations. He was on the first board that established the ND Petroleum Tank clean up fund.

United States Grains Council - Councill Elected New U.S. Grains Council Chairman – 29/7/2016

Washington, D.C. – Chip Councill, a 10th generation farmer from Talbot County, Maryland, was elected as the new U.S. Grains Council (USGC) chairman during the organization’s 56th Annual Board of Delegates Meeting this week in Louisville, Kentucky.

Councill and his family produce corn, wheat and soybeans and operate a a farm stand selling local consumers a wide variety of produce including watermelons, sweet corn and pumpkins. Through work with USGC and the Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board, he has become a leading farm educator and conservationist.

“At this point in my life, my passions are my family, my farm and the U.S. Grains Council,” Councill told USGC delegates shortly after his election. "Our programs are having a true impact around the world, and despite challenges facing the farm economy now, I am excited and optimistic about the future of our industry."

Councill told delegates the organization will continue to focus on its core market development mission for feed grains while building export markets for U.S. ethanol and communicating to customers about the work the U.S. grains industry does to produce reliable and high-quality crops.

"Our mission statement – developing markets, enabling trade and improving lives – is direct and to the point. Those six words guide us in every commodity, in every market, in every country around the world," he said. "Over the next year, we will expand on what we have done for 56 years – we will continue to develop markets and look for new opportunities for barley, sorghum, corn, DDGS, ethanol and beyond."

He takes the helm at the Council having served for two years as an officer of the organization and in community and farm organization leadership positions both locally and nationally. In 2010, the family was selected as Talbot County's Soil Conservation District Cooperators of the Year for their conservation efforts and in 2014, Councill was selected for the Maryland Governor's Agriculture Hall of Fame for his contributions to the local industry.

At the Louisville meeting, the Board of Delegates also elected other members of the Council's 2016-2017 Board of Directors. That body now includes:

- Philip "Chip" Councill, Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board, chairman
- Deb Keller, Iowa Corn Promotion Board, vice chairman
- Jim Stitzlein, Consolidated Grain and Barge Co., secretary/treasurer
- Alan Tiemann, Nebraska Corn Board, past chairman
- Thomas Sleight, U.S. Grains Council, president and chief executive officer
- Darren Armstrong, Corn Growers Association of North Carolina, Inc., at-large board member
- Ray Defenbaugh, Big River Resources LLC, agribusiness sector/ethanol and co-products director
- Craig Floss, Iowa Corn Promotion Board, checkoff sector director
- Dick Gallagher, Iowa Corn Promotion Board, corn sector director
- Greg Hibner, Hawkeye Gold, LLC, a J.D. Heiskell Company, agribusiness sector director
- Charles Ray Huddleston, Texas Grain Sorghum Association, sorghum sector director
- James Raben, Illinois Corn Marketing Board, at-large director
- Charles Ring, Texas Corn Producers Board, at-large director

Louis Dreyfus Commodities - Louis Dreyfus Company CFO to Step Down on June 30th – 27/7/2016

ROTTERDAM, THE NETHERLANDS, 27 June 2016 – Louis Dreyfus Company B.V. (LDC) today announced that Sandrine Téran, Group Chief Financial Officer (CFO), will leave her role effective at the end of the month in order to pursue other opportunities. Mrs. Téran will nevertheless remain with the Group as Corporate Advisor on finance matters over the coming months.

Federico Cerisoli, currently CFO for LDC’s Europe, Middle East and Africa region, has been named Interim Group CFO, effective July 1st, 2016, pending a more lasting appointment.

Mr. Cerisoli joined LDC in 2008 and served in various regional and divisional CFO positions before his appointment to his present role as CFO for the Europe, Middle East and Africa region. Prior to joining LDC, he worked for over 17 years in finance and business development at commodity trading companies in Argentina, Brazil and the US.

“We would like to thank Sandrine for her service to date and we are pleased that she will continue to contribute her experience and know how in her new corporate capacity, while ensuring a smooth hand over,” said Gonzalo Ramírez Martiarena, Chief Executive Officer at Louis Dreyfus Company B.V. “As we continue to evolve and refine our strategic vision and roadmap, we are launching a thorough and structured search for a successor to the CFO role, which is crucial in the pursuit of our ambitions and plans, and in the execution of our long-term business transformation. I am confident that Federico will effectively and successfully coordinate our diverse Finance activities during the transition."
